

Demystifying Self-Directed Learning for Health Professions Educator: From Theory to Practice

Author: Dr.T.S. Gugapriya

₹595 ISBN: 9788196671129

Being a lifelong learner is one of the primary roles practiced by an Indian medical graduate (IMG). To initiate IMGs into this role, the process of self-directed learning has been introduced as a component of the recently introduced competency-based medical education curriculum framework.

Contents | Acknowledgements | Preface

1 SDL-Need of the Hour Dr. Meenakshi Girish

2 Journey from Andragogy to Heutagogy: Conceptualizing SDL Dr. Vinu Vij

3 Are they Ready?: Let's Warm Up To The SDL Session Dr. Akkilagunta Sujiv

4 "Can I?": Priming for SDL Session Dr. Sreelakshmi V.

5 "How Can I?": Triggering SDL Session Dr. T.S. Gugapriya

6 "Am I on the Right Path?": Assessment in SDL Session Dr. Nisha Meshram

7 "Have I?": Evaluation of SDL Session Dr. Vinay Kumar N

8 "Am I Doing Right?": Checking the Planned SDL Session Dr. Navita Aggarwal

About the Author

Dr. T.S. Gugapriya is currently working as a professor of Anatomy and coordinator of the Centre for Medical Education Technologies at AIIMS Nagpur. She is a passionate teacher with 20 years of undergraduate and postgraduate teaching experience.